

Epilogue

Activities:

- 1) Using your dictionary define the meaning of the word epilogue.
- 2) For what purpose do you think the author used this epilogue?
- 3) Who do you think Yellow Hair is? Where do you think he has gone?
- 4) What is the Wolf searching for?
- 5) Find the clue which hints that Yellow Hair and the wolf may cross paths again.

Notes for Sister to the Wolf:

1. Historical Fiction is the genre of this novel.

- a) Find three characters that are historically factual and three who are fictional.
- b) The author did much research. Record what she made happen on these four dates eg. 1704—Alphonse de Tonti was caught in an embezzlement plot.

summer 1703      1704      1706      1707 to 1710

2. Family Stories:

The story of Fort Detroit is also the story of two branches of my maternal family tree, the Roys and the Labutes, both numbered among the founding families of the fort.

Author Maxine Trottier certainly had interesting ancestors with interesting tales.

- a) If you would like to learn about her current life, go to her homepage www.execulink.com/~maxitrot

If you have a question about this book, send it to her by email at: maxitrot@execulink.com.

- b) You may have a family tree full of stories too. Start by asking your parents and grandparents.

What was the scariest time of your life?
Who were the first members of our family to settle in Canada?
What was their life like when they first got here?